The Municipal Police Institute, Inc. (MPI) is a private, nonprofit charitable affiliate of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association. MPI provides training and model policies and procedures for police agencies. This policy is an edited version of MPI Policy 2.08, "Missing Persons."

GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS AND GUIDELINES

A missing person is one who is absent with no apparent reason or under circumstances that may indicate involuntary disappearance. It should be remembered that missing persons are not fugitives and often have voluntarily left home for personal reasons, of which the person making the report may be reluctant to inform the police. Despite limited resources and the fact that many of these reports may be unfounded or unnecessary, the Department cannot ignore such reports and must be prepared to respond to all missing persons reports.

It is the policy of the Lexington Police Department to:

- Ensure that reports of missing persons are promptly recorded, assessed, and investigated.
- Ensure that response to calls for missing children shall be given a priority, and great care shall be exercised in investigating any missing child case, as all missing children must be considered at risk until circumstance prove otherwise. [\[41.2.6\(a\)\]](#)

- E. Special Considerations
- 1. Voluntarily Missing (Run Away) Juveniles

 - e. Any indication of neglect or abuse in the family should be considered, and upon recovery of the missing juvenile, appropriate follow-up action shall be taken by the investigating officer where appropriate, including filing a neglect and abuse report with the Department of Social Services.^v
 - 2. Parental Kidnapping
 - a. A non-custodial parental kidnapping case requires a thorough investigation, as the abducting parent is in violation of the law, and the juvenile abducted by a parent may be in serious danger.^{vi} The investigation focuses on the abductor parent, his/her friends and relatives, and on the needs of the juvenile for public care.

- b. A thorough check of bank records, employment, labor unions, credit bureaus, and any other governmental agencies should be made in an attempt to locate the abductor.

 - ii. In certain cases, the Middlesex District Attorney's office may seek a Federal Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution Warrant through the United States Attorney's office.

3. Stranger Abduction of Juveniles

- a. Stranger abduction cases require that the juvenile be considered in extreme danger and, therefore, every available resource of the Department shall be utilized to find the juvenile and ensure his/her safety.
- b. A command post should be set up away from the juvenile's home. An officer should be stationed at the house to maintain communication between the command post and the parents.

cases. The Alzheimer's Association operates Safe Return twenty-four hours per day. It will issue a Fax Alert to area police departments, hospitals, shelters and elder service agencies and will follow up with the missing person's caregivers. If safe return services are used, the investigating officer or Dispatcher shall notify Safe Return when the person is located.

- c. A supervisor will immediately set up a command post in the area where the person has gone missing. Available resources shall be used to search the immediate and surrounding areas.
- d. The supervisor on scene should consider the probability that a search, in these cases, may take many hours. Mutual aid, incident command and related protocols should be implemented.

 - e. All missing persons, when found, shall be questioned as to their whereabouts and activities.
 - f. Officers should determine whether the missing person was the victim of any crime during the period of absence. Eliciting a full account of the missing person's whereabouts is essential to future corroboration of the missing person's story.

- g. Officers locating a missing person shall file a report detailing the circumstances surrounding the finding of the person, and note any particular difficulties encountered (for example, reluctance or refusal to return home), as this may signal neglect or abuse in the family.
